PREFACE

Crawford County is located in central Georgia. It was created as the fifty-fifth county by the state legislature in 1822. The county was formed from the northwest portion of Houston County which had previously been created from Creek Indian land in 1821 using the land lottery system. Crawford County in 1824 lost a large part of it's western portion when Upson County was formed. It later received small additions from Talbot and Macon counties. Since then the boundaries have remained mostly unchanged and to-day encompass an area of 313 square miles.

The county was named for William H. Crawford, a Georgian who was serving as U. S. Secretary of the Treasury in 1822. He was a jurist and a diplomat, and very nearly President of the United States.

Knoxville, the county seat, was named for General Henry Knox of Revolutionary War fame. The courthouse that was first built there, burned in February 1830. The early marriage records somehow survived the fire. In the early years, Knoxville was the hub of business and county activity. When the railroad was built within one mile of Knoxville, a station called Roberta was established which soon drew the business trade to that location. To-day Roberta is the largest county town.

Joanna Troutman is probably the most noted native of Crawford County. A monument to her stands on the courthouse square. She designed, made, and presented a flag to a group of middle Georgia volunteers en route to Texas to help fight for its independance from Mexico in 1833. With a reverse color change her "Lone Star Flag" was later adopted as the official state flag by the State of Texas.

Although the county lies, within commuting distance of large job markets in Macon and Warner Robins, it's industry remains primarly agriculture. It leads the state in the number of peach trees and to-geather with pecans, they account for 60% of all farm income.

The county population in 1830 was 5314 and rose to 8855 by 1850. The county lay along the Macon and Montgomery Trail of the Creek Indians and as this and other trails turned into roads, emigerants poured into the county. Early County records show that many came from east Georgia counties and the Carolinas, but many also moved on to new counties and states to the west.

We originally planned seven publications for Crawford County and obtained a grant from the R. J. TAYLOR, Jr. Foundation to cover the cost of printing. Five of the seven have been completed to date. This publication we consider a bonus issue and is supported by our own funding. It contains abstractions from Guardians Bonds 1874-1906, Administrators Bonds Book "2" 1874-1899, and Appraisement and Sale Bills 1881-1905. Researchers who are interested in this era of time should also review our "Wills of Crawford County, Georgia 1835-1948" which is due for release in June 1989. Researchers should also review our CGGS Quarterly Vol. 9, No. 2, June 1987 and No. 3, September 1987 for a listing of names on whom all types of loose estate files (1822-1900) are available at the Georgia State Archives.
